How to Paint a Realistic Black Dog in Watercolor

The first step in answering that question is to know what colors dogs see. Dogs do see colors, but the colors they see aren't as vivid or as many as we see. Most experts agree that while they can't see reds and greens, dogs do see most other colors — including blacks, whites, grays, yellows and blues. That means a toy that looks red or green to you doesn't look the same to your dog.

Painting Dogs Tip 5: Eye Colors. Most dogs have brown eyes, but of course not all browns are the same, nor uniform, so once again be sure to not to paint a generic eye color but to look closely at the specific color of that specific dog's eyes. The irises of the eyes of miniature dogs tend not to be very visible.

Tips for Still-Life Painting Dogs - LiveAbout

The dog's age shows in both his eyes and the white, whiskery jowls. Using a small, stiff, stencil brush, the jowl area was softened and lightened by gently brushing the damp brush in a circular motion and dabbing the abraded area with a paper towel. 36 IMG_6001-photo-full.jpg
